THE DALTONS.

"Bob" Wished to Surpass the Jesse James Record.

To Do It His Band Must Rob Two Banks at the Same Time.

In Addition He Had a Grudge Against the Town of Coffeyville—Casher Ayres May Recover From His Wounds—Even the Dalton Gang Cannot Recover.

COPPERFIELD, Kas., Oct. 7.—The streets were packed Thursday with crowds of excited people from all parts of that section, attracted by the terrible Dalton train robbery. On every street corner, in every alley, stand groups of citizens openly discussing the attempted bank robbery of Wednesday, with its attendant tragic results. At the city jail an awning has been put over the entrance, and four dead bandits in coffins provided by the county, with a guard to see they are not disturbed. Since morning a procession of sight-seers, which seems to be never ending, has viewed the dead caravans.

The stairway leading to the room where Emmett Dalton lies is still times surrounded by a crowd of men and women, who do their utmost to persuade the guard to let them pass up the stairway to the wounded man. All sorts of offers are advanced by these people for their requests, but with few exceptions, they are not complied with.

DEATH FROM CHOLERA,

And Two Persons Suffering From It Are Still Alive.

TOMAHAWK, Wis., Oct. 7.—In spite of all precautions at the sea-board, Asiatic cholera has broken out here, and Dr. A. W. Jayne, the health officer, has sent to Buffalo for the assistance of Dr. South Commissioned Wade, and Dr. W. H. White, the local health officer. So far there have been two deaths, and two new cases are under treatment. The facts given out by Dr. Jayne are as follows: Pauline Kalima, a Roman, was taken sick early Saturday morning. Dr. Taber was called, and found him suffering with all the symptoms of genuine Asiatic cholera. He vomited incessantly, and in seven hours he was dead. As in cholera cases, he fell away from death very rapidly. Dr. Jayne, the health officer, who ordered the house under quarantine and prepared to fumigate it. In the meantime Kalima's five-year-old son, Frank, was taken sick and died Saturday night. Dr. Jayne threw every bit of bedding and furniture, and called out the police reserve to guard the house. Thursday Kalima's wife and an Austrian boarder named Kallisch were taken sick. They were sent to the Hospital, but were not expected to live. They are being treated for Asiatic cholera. The excreta is exactly like that in cholera cases. Dr. Jayne, in examining the house, found a lot of newspapers and letters from Hamburg and Russia, which had been received within two weeks.

SHOCK UP

By an Earthquake in the Black Hills—

JORI SPRINGS, S. D., Oct. 7.—At 8:30 Wednesday evening the citizens of this place were startled by a roaring, rumbling sound much after the nature of a wagon passing close to one's house, but the source of the sound could not be realized. It had been so loud it did not exceed a second. That it was an earthquake disturbance is certain.

Houses in all parts of town shake like leaves in a storm, window curtains vibrated back and forth, tables and chairs were thrown about, in fact, everything that was being worked or moving was disturbed. The shock came from the southwest and passed to the southeast, and in the neighborhood of the Soldiers' Home was evidently greater than at other points. The shock continued, however, the second shock frequently vibrated, and, in fact, everything in that vicinity was given a thorough shaking up. In the business portion of the town the shock was not so great as in the residential section, but the shock was still felt.

Soon after the poet's death the sky, which had been clear, became clouded and the light of the stars dimmed.

Shortly after the rain fell heavily, and the scene contrasted strongly with that which had illumined the parting hours of the great poet.

The last words spoken by Lord Tennyson were a fond affectionate utterance addressed to his wife about an hour before his death.

Throughout his illness Lord Tennyson showed grateful appreciation of every kindness and attention extended to him. Until he became too feeble to speak he frequently thanked the doctors and nurses as well as the members of the household who ministered to his needs.

When the queen's telegrams of inquiry were read, William Tennyson read them to his father, who listened with evident pleasure.

About 10:30 Wednesday evening the dyng man was swallowed with apparent difficulty some brandy and milk given to him by the physicians. This was the last moment when he was able to receive food.

He died suddenly, however, without the heart having ceased.

JOSEPH TOWNSLEY, aged 92 years, and a soldier in the war of 1812, is missing. He left his home in Crawford township, near Coonhook, Ia., on Wednesday in answer to an invitation of green goods men, and was last seen in Buffalo, N. Y. Telegrams have been sent to the police authorities of Cleveland and Buffalo that he may be intercepted.

Train goes Through a Burning Bridge—

COURT GROVE, Kan., Oct. 7.—A freight train on the Missouri-Pacific met with a bad accident about sixty miles west of this place early Thursday morning, caused by the train going through a burning bridge. The engine, C. T. Peffer, son of United States Senator Peffer, and Clint Howard, fireman, were both instantly killed. Charles Hart, another fireman, was also badly injured. After the accident occurred the wreck took fire, burning up thirteen cars of grain. Both Peffer and Howard leave families.

Lord Carnegie Seeks Marriage—

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Lord Carnegie, in an article Thursday morning in regard to Mr. Andrew Carnegie's gift to Ayre, says why Ayre does not provide his own wife instead of depending on millions Carnegie would be better employed in trying to help his wife with her American employee. It requires plenty of confidence on the part of the man who passively consented to the bloated St. Homestead to pose as a benefactor of Scotland and a eulogist of heretics.

France Wins a Battle—

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—A Lagunae (Venezuela) cable dispatch Thursday morning states that the battle of La Guaira, in which 600 were killed and many high officials captured, has been fought at Los Teques, in which 600 were killed and many high officials captured. Creole forces were victorious on all sides. The government had about 6,000 soldiers and Creole 14,000. The battle is 10 miles from the capital, and he will enter it Friday.

Change the Marriage Law—

LONDON, Oct. 7.—A special dispatch to the Times from Calcutta says: "The demand for a marriage bill to be made law in India has been made by the maharajah of Mysore, of which he stated that the Maharanjah's government was ready to alter the law so as to make marriages of girls below ten years of age and of men above fifty to girls under sixteen criminal offenses. The demand was greeted with loud cheering."

Marshal Arrested for Pocket Pickings—

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 7.—Walter Hay, marshal of Hilliard, a village twelve miles from here, was locked up in the county jail Thursday night charged with pocket pickings.

He was accused of robbing a man named Charles Cox to the jail Tuesday to await the grand jury's finding on the charge that Cox had picked the pockets of Frank Winegardner while the latter lay asleep in his bed. Hay was endeavoring to extricate himself, but he opposed his efforts with all her might and was herself severely burned. It is thought the woman will die. She had but recently been released from a hospital in Toledo, Ohio, where she was confined for two or three years. Mr. Sharp lingered from 5 o'clock in the morning till midnight, and his sufferings are described as heartbreaking. The couple were up ward of ten years of age. There is great excitement in Hilliard over the occurrence.

THE DEAD POET.

England's Poet Crosses Over the River.

His Passing Away Was Calm and Peaceful.

The Poet's Family at the bedside—The Watchers Could Hardly Discover the Supreme Moment—Lady Tennyson Prostrated by Grief and Fatigue.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Lord Alfred Tennyson died at 1:35 Thursday morning at his house in Aldworth, Surrey. Sir Andrew Clarke, Dr. Dobbs and the poet's family were at his bedside when he breathed his last.

The poet's body was calm and peaceful. Sir Andrew Clarke, who attended the poet in his last hours, said, in an interview with a representative of the International Telegram Co., just after leaving the death chamber, that Lord Tennyson had died in a quiet manner.

"In all my experience," said the eminent physician, "I never witnessed any thing more glorious. There were no artificial lights in the chamber. All was darkness, except for the silver light of the moon, which fell upon the poet's face, and prostrated the features of the dying poet like the halo in one of Rembrandt's pictures."

William Tennyson, the poet's son, said: "The end was beautiful, calm and peaceful. He passed away as if in sleep. The watchers could hardly distinguish the moment."

Twice during the night the dying man amided upon those around the bedside, indicating that he was conscious and recognized them, but he was too fatigued to speak.

Lady Tennyson bears her affliction with a fair degree of fortitude, but is nearly prostrated by grief and fatigue.

Soon after the poet's death the sky, which had been clear, became clouded and the light of the stars dimmed. Shortly after the rain fell heavily, and the scene contrasted strongly with that which had illumined the parting hours of the great poet.

The last words spoken by Lord Tennyson were a fond affectionate utterance addressed to his wife about an hour before his death.

Throughout his illness Lord Ten-

tors and nurses as well as the members of the household who ministered to his needs.

When the queen's telegrams of inquiry were read, William Tennyson read them to his father, who listened with evident pleasure.

About 10:30 Wednesday evening the

dyng man was swallowed with apparent difficulty some brandy and milk given to him by the physicians. This was the last moment when he was able to receive food.

He died suddenly, however, without the heart having ceased.

JOSEPH TOWNSLEY, aged 92 years, and a soldier in the war of 1812, is missing. He left his home in Crawford township, near Coonhook, Ia., on Wednesday in answer to an invitation of green goods men, and was last seen in Buffalo, N. Y. Telegrams have been sent to the police authorities of Cleveland and Buffalo that he may be intercepted.

Train goes Through a Burning Bridge—

COURT GROVE, Kan., Oct. 7.—A freight train on the Missouri-Pacific met with a bad accident about sixty miles west of this place early Thursday morning, caused by the train going through a burning bridge.

The engine, C. T. Peffer, son of United States Senator Peffer, and Clint Howard, fireman, were both instantly killed.

Charles Hart, another fireman, was also badly injured. After the accident occurred the wreck took fire, burning up thirteen cars of grain. Both Peffer and Howard leave families.

Lord Carnegie Seeks Marriage—

FEDERAL SUPERVISION OF ELECTIONS IN TENNESSEE

Very Like a Force Bill—The Document Upon Which the People's Party is a Testimony Before a Request for Federal Supervision of the Ballot.

The bugaboo of the "Force bill," which the Democrats are using to attract attention from the real issues of the campaign, will be an utter failure. As the history of this and similar measures becomes known, it is shown that in the ten years past the churches of Kentucky had given $60,000 short of paying their preachers what they had been promised.

At the recent Conference of the M. E. Church, South, at Middlesborough, Rev. Dr. E. H. Pearce stated that in the ten years past the churches of Kentucky had given $60,000 short of paying their preachers what they had been promised.

WILLIAM STONE, a prominent business man of Louisville, went home with his boots full of snakes and beat his good wife. Her cries woke up a couple of policemen, and when they appeared at his door Stone fired five shots at them from a second-story window. The officers would have killed him but for the entreaties of the abused wife.

Mrs. JOHN VAN Meter of Pike County was found by her two children lying in a pasture near the house, with her skull crushed to a pulp, and her six-month-old baby with its throat cut from ear to ear. Her husband, with whom she had never lived happily and who is now missing, is supposed to be the murderer, and a posse of men that are searching for him will hang him without ceremony if he is caught.

This following Postmasters were recently appointed in Kentucky:
1. T. Parsons, Bloom, Graves county;
2. A. J. Vincent, resigned; S. Rice, Ezel, Morgan county, vice W. J. Prather, resigned; E. F. Burgess, George's Creek, Lawrence county, vice G. Burgess, resigned; J. C. Instructions as to what should be done in case of such an emergency will be given to you, Mr. Wilson, and Mr. Wadsworth, his legal counsel, thus:

I have stipulated you, believing that you will be conscientious in the performance of your duties, and I shall expect and exact conduct and deportment in conformity with the belief.

Notice of Incorporation of Maysville Sanitarium Company.

1. Notice is hereby given that John T. Finch, C. P. Fife, and W. H. Wadsworth, Directors, and special Deputy marshals, in the performance of their duties and their compensation, together with the compensation of supervisors at the Congressional election in Maysville next, are authorized to demand the execution of titles 24 and 29, chapter 7, title 70 of the Revised Statutes. Under sections 2,022 and 2,023 of the Revised Statutes you have power to keep the peace, protect supervisors, preserve order, prevent frauds and enforce the law in towns of 20,000 inhabitants and upwards.

Yours truly,
GROVER CLEVELAND.

Immediately afterward this letter was sent to Attorney-General Garfield and to F. W. Wilson, United States Marshal at Nashville, Tenn.

Sir: In pursuance of a letter of the 5th inst. from the President, directing the Attorney-General to take charge of the "appointees of special deputy marshals, in the performance of their duties and their compensation, together with the compensation of supervisors" at the Congressional election in Maysville next, you are authorized to demand the execution of titles 24 and 29, chapter 7, title 70 of the Revised Statutes. Under sections 2,022 and 2,023 of the Revised Statutes you have power to keep the peace, protect supervisors, preserve order, prevent frauds and enforce the law in towns of 20,000 inhabitants and upwards.

Yours truly,
JOHN T. FINCH.

As far as I am advised, the authority with the statutes referred to and see that they are understood by your deputies, who should be discreet men, impressed with the importance of an honest franchise.

The manner of discharging these duties by you and your deputies is largely left to your discretion, and may be involving questions of law you are directed to consult the attorney of the United States for your district or needed information and advice. It is important that the work be performed without infringing upon the rights of any citizen, in a manner that shall be firm and at the same time considerate of any unnecessary display of authority.

It is not expected that supervisors and deputy marshals will receive compensation for their services, but they should be informed, within this time it can be done, it is thought, that each supervisor will be entitled to a sum equivalent to the expense of his services and no others.

Some instructions about the method of payment of these deputies follow, and the Attorney-General then says that upon payment being completed, the accounts should be approved by the court and forwarded to his department for action under the executive order mentioned.

Mr. Cleveland's letter was dated October 5th. The instructions issued in accordance with that letter, and presumably by reason of the intermediate instructions from the Attorney-General to Marshal Wilson, appear to have been dated the 6th. The process of providing for Democratic guardianship over the polls in Tennessee seems to have been completed with the utmost thoroughness. Mr. Wilson issued general instructions to deputies on the morning of election day, ordering them "to aid and assist supervisors of election in the verification of the lists of persons voting at different places; to keep the peace and protect the supervisors; to preserve order; to prevent fraudulent voting, or fraudulent or illegal conduct on the part of any officer of election. Legitimate argument and persuasion are proper to induce voters to vote for one or another class of candidates. All local obstructions or hindrances by one person or set of persons, interposed in the way of another person or set of persons voting as their choice dictates, is a violation of Federal law." "Any person or persons who call themselves of this or that party in your presence, you are directed at once without warrant, to will arrest a person without a warrant therefor provided, however, that the person commits a violation of the law in your presence.
